Jacksonville State University All Hazards - Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP)

Instructions: To be better prepared, all JSU departments and units may use this form to complete a Continuity of Operations Plan (COOP) - to describe how your department will operate during an emergency and recover afterwards to be fully operational. This is your Plan; feel free to augment this template to meet your needs. For guidance and more information, contact Dr. David Steffy, Environmental Health & Safety Committee at 782-5966 or dsteffy@jsu.edu.

A: Background Information for Emergency Planning

No one can predict when an emergency might happen or how severe it will be. It is prudent to plan for one, especially since these plans can be applied to any major emergency that could threaten the health and safety of the campus community or disrupt University programs and essential operations. This plan should address any kind of emergency that is severe enough to impact the JSU community including an infectious disease epidemic, severe weather events, fires or explosions, hazardous materials releases, extended utility outages, floods, terrorism or mass casualty events.

In the event of an emergency, JSU will have four objectives:

- Protect life and health
- Safeguard our critical infrastructure (support, facilities and operations)
- Continue functions essential to university operations
- Resume normal teaching, research and service operations as soon as possible

B: Your Department's Objectives

Considering your department's unique mission, describe your teaching, research and service objectives:

D: Emergency Communication Systems  All JSU employees are responsible for keeping informed of emergencies by monitoring news media reports, JSU's web home page, by calling the JSU Police Department (256-782-5050), email and phonalert messages. To rapidly communicate with your employees in an emergency, we encourage all departments to prepare and maintain a call tree.  Note below the system(s) you will use to contact your employees in an emergency. Departments should identify multiple communication systems that can be used for backup, after hours, when not on camputor for other contingencies.

E: Emergency Access to Information and Systems  If access to your department's information and systems is essential in an emergency, describe your emergency access plan below. This may include remote access (or authorization to allow remote access), contacting IT support, Blackboard, off-site data backup, backup files on flash drives, hard copies, Blackberry/Treo or use of alternate email systems (e.g., Yahoo). Identify what critical data and records are backed up, whether the back up is stored on-site or off-site. Simulate a failure scenario that tests the ability to recover "lost" critical data. Describe how your department will respond to the destruction of critical data. List essential functions that will need to have remote access to systems and individual's authorized to perform temporary but critical "work from home".

N: For Events Impacting the Region consider Home Emergency Planning for Individuals and Families

Employees, students and their families should plan for any type of emergency that could impact them in their home, apartment or residence hall. Don't wait—an emergency can occur at any time. Past experience has taught us that employees may not show up for work if they are concerned for the safety and security of their families. We recommend that your employees receive the following information, available on the HHS Pandemic website at http://www.pandemicflu.gov/health and the Ready.gov web link.
