Peer Educators

Jacksonville State University Peer Educators is the local chapter of an international organization known as The Bacchus Network. These students have taken the initiative to offer leadership to their peers on certain issues. Their number one goal is to create a more positive, healthy campus environment.

As an affiliate of The Bacchus Network, the JSU Peer Educators focus on events and activities that meet the specific needs of the JSU campus. They coordinate and publicize events for National Alcohol Awareness Week, Sexual Responsibility Week, and Safe Spring Break programs. The programs and goals of the JSU Peer Educators are:

- Attack myths about college drinking that portray excessive use and drunkenness as a norm.

- Conduct alcohol-free social events in conjunction with educational messages.

- Use the power of peer-to-peer influence as part of the educational process.

- Significantly influence student drinking as it relates to impaired driving prevention.

- Recognize the link between alcohol abuse and other related health issues such as HIV/AIDS, depression, etc. and support a comprehensive peer approach to prevention.

- Support state laws and campus policies and that reduce overall risk to the university and individual students' well-being.

- Engage students in being a part of the catalyst to develop a healthy campus environment.

ROTC

After the tragic loss of Major Dwayne Williams, his mother, Ms. Pearl Williams, was determined to do something in her son's memory for his service to the country. Dwayne died during the attack on the Pentagon September 11, 2001. She found ways to raise money for scholarships to give many worthy ROTC students an honor in memory of her son. The scholarships are presented annually during the fall.

One Day

Without Shoes

In 2006, American traveler Blake Mycoskie befriended children in a village in Argentina and found they had no shoes to protect their feet. Wanting to help, he created Toms, a company that would match every pair of shoes purchased with a pair of new shoes. The goal of One Day Without Shoes is to allow the community to experience this issue first hand.

T-Pain Concert

International House

The International House Program began in 1946 with five students from France. Initially, the program focused on languages. Today, there are forty members of the program. Twenty American students and twenty internationals. Each international student is from a different country and rooms with an American student. Though emphasis is still placed on languages, greater emphasis is now placed on the overall aspects of cultural understanding. Truly, the International House Program provides “A Window on the World” for students at Jacksonville State University and the surrounding community.

Sororities

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta was founded on October 24, 1902 at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio by Alpha Lloyd, Anna Keen, Mabelle Minton, Mary Collins, Julia Bishop, and Anne Simmons. Their philanthropic causes are speech and hearing and The Painted Turtle Camp.

Phi Mu

This sorority was founded in 1852 at Wesleyan College in Macon, Georgia by Mary Lines, Mary Elizabeth, and Daniel and Martha Redding. It began as the Philomathean Society, a literary society, and is the second oldest group for women in the nation. Their philanthropic cause is Children's Miracle Network.

Zeta Phi Beta

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority, Inc. was founded January 16, 1920, at Howard University, Washington, D.C. The Klan was very active during this period and the Harlem Renaissance was acknowledged as the first important movement of Black artists and writers in the U.S. It was within this environment that five coeds envisioned a sorority that would directly affect positive change, chart a course of action for the 1920s, raise consciousness of their people, encourage the highest standards of scholastic achievement, and foster a greater sense of unity among its members. These women believed that sorority socializing overshadowed the real mission for progressive organizations, and failed to address fully the societal mores, ills, prejudices, and poverty affecting humanity in general and the black community in particular.

Zeta Tau Alpha

This sorority was founded on October 15, 1898 by nine women at the State Female Normal School in Farmville, Virginia. Their philanthropic cause is Breast Cancer Awareness.

Alpha Omicron Pi

The Sorority was founded on January 2, 1897 by Helen Mullan, Stella Perry, Elizabeth Wyman, and Jessie Hughan at Bernard College, New York. Their philanthropic cause is Arthritis Research.

Alpha Xi Delta

In 1893, ten young women at Lombard College in Galesburg, Illinois, shared a vision and a dream of a national organization dedicated to the personal growth of women. Their dream became Alpha Xi Delta, one of the oldest in the United States. Their philanthropic cause is Autism Speaks.

Delta Sigma Theta

Delta Sigma Theta Public Service Sorority Inc. was founded January 13, 1913 by twenty-two illustrious college women at Howard University. Their goal was to strongly de-emphasize the social aspect of sorority life and expand on new horizons such as cultural diversity and academic excellence. The Kappa Beta Chapter, chartered May 12, 1973 at Jacksonville State University, continues to live on the legacy that was paved by the founders. Through continuous involvement in the local community, service programs based on the sororities five point thrust, and with a priority on academic success, the Kappa Beta Chapter is always striving to have a positive impact on the lives they encounter.

Alpha Kappa Alpha

It all began as a vision of nine college students on the campus of Howard University. The sorority has grown into a union of thousands of college-trained women who are bound by a powerful mystique, a real moving factor in the lives of students in more than four hundred institutions of higher learning. It is one of the most solvent corporations in the world today. As Alpha Kappa Alpha has grown, it has kept in balance two very important themes: the importance of the individual and strength of an organization of women, courage, and ability. As the world became more complex, there was a need for associations without racial, geographical, political, physical, and social barriers. Alpha Kappa Alpha's influence extends beyond campus quads and student interest.

Sigma Gamma Rho

The sorority was founded on November 12, 1922 on the campus of Butler University in Indianapolis, Indiana by seven school teachers. Each woman had the the same goal in mind, "Greater Service, Greater Progress." The Mu Xi Chapter was chartered on the campus of Jacksonville State University on March 6, 1992 by seven untouchable Pearls. Since then fifteen lines have crossed into the largest chapter in the Southeast Region. Mu Xi has been and will continue to serve as a beacon of light to all mankind. Sigma Gamma Rho Sorority's aim is to enhance the quality of life within the community. Public service, leadership development and education of youth are the hallmarks of the organization's programs and activities. Sigma Gamma Rho addresses concerns that impact society educationally, civically, and economically.

Fraternities

Sigma Nu

When a new member is initiated, Sigma Nu does not supply him with a badge of one or two arms, but all five because the chapter is trusted to initiate a fully prepared, totally committed, genuine Brother. It is Sigma Nu's mission to empower its Brotherhood to grow mind, heart, and character in order to assist collegiate members to move more gracefully out into the world after graduation.

Pi Kappa Phi

On a quiet December evening in Charleston, South Carolina in 1904, three friends, Andrew Kroeg, Simon Fogarty and Harry Mixon made a choice to lead. Over the course of a century, a fraternity with humble beginnings has grown into a brotherhood of more than 100,000 members. PUSH America is their philanthropy.

Delta Chi

Delta Chi fraternity believes that great advantages are derived from a brotherhood of college and university men. That close association promotes friendship, develops character, advances justice, and assists in the acquisition of a sound education.

Omega Psi Phi

On Friday evening, November 17, 1911, three Howard University undergraduate students created the Omega Psi Phi Fraternity. Omega Psi Phi does not seek members; quality men seek Omega Psi Phi. A man who successfully completes the membership selection process will immediately have access to a brotherhood of men who share similar ideals and aspirations. Those who seek admission will learn the history of the fraternity from an historical perspective, written test and personal accounts. Successful applicants will have a strong presence at the college, university or graduate chapter where they gain admission, but will also become a part of an international organization known worldwide. Omega Psi Phi has more than 700 chapters of members.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

The fraternity's mission has been refined as "Building Balanced Men." With these three words, they capture the essence of SigEp's value to its members, charting a course for men to live their best lives by embracing their cardinal principles of Virtue, Diligence and Brotherly Love and committing to the practice of Sound Mind and Body.

Phi Beta Sigma

Phi Beta Sigma Fraternity was founded at Howard University in Washington, D.C., January 9, 1914, by three African-American male students. The Founders, A. Langston Taylor, Leonard F. Morse, and Charles I. Brown wanted to organize a fraternity that would truly exemplify the ideals of brotherhood, scholarship, and service.

Tau Delta Phi

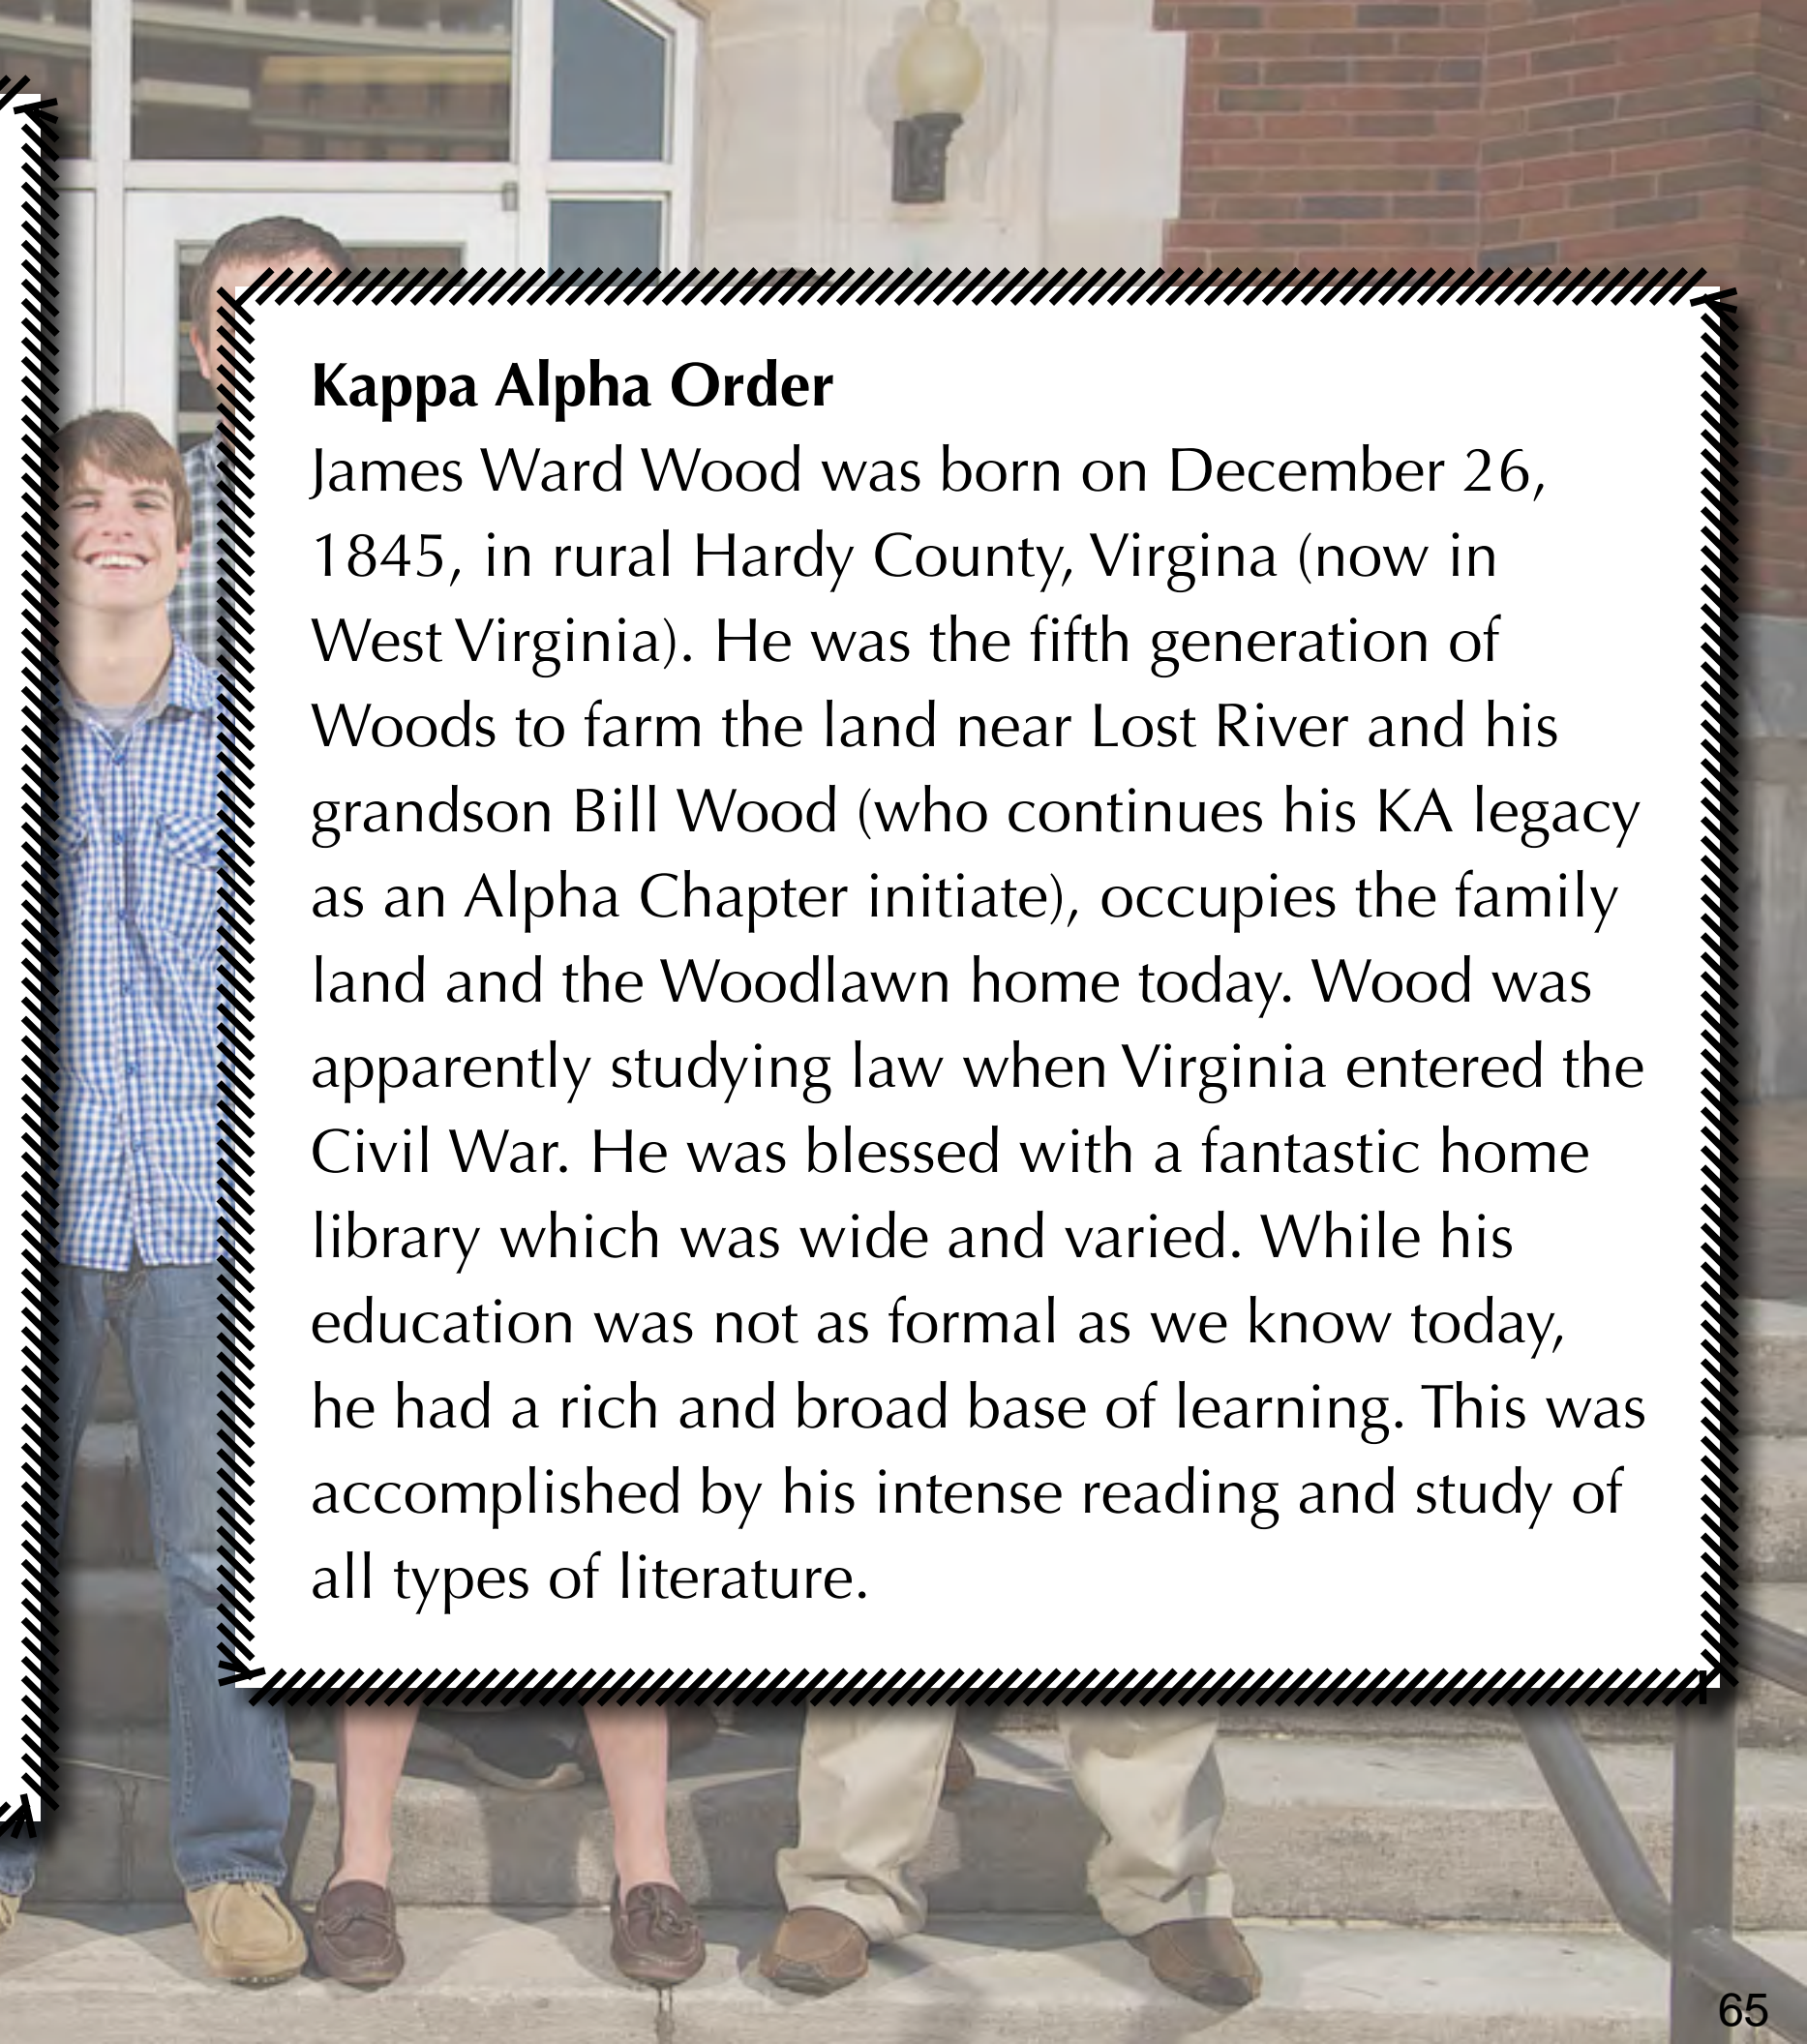

Tau Delta Phi was founded on June 22, 1910. Starting out as Phi Sigma Beta, they colonized at the Community Center of the Greenwich section of New York. Tau Delta Phi is a social fraternity that is committed to developing leaders of tomorrow with character and reputation that earn respect and admiration. Active Minds is their philanthropy.

Kappa Sigma

Kappa Sigma was founded in 1869. Five students attending the University of Virginia gathered in the room of William Grigsby McCormick and planted the seed of Brotherhood. Not only did the founders formalize their friendship, but also a fraternity steeped in the traditions of the past and dedicated to the Pursuit of Learning. The new brothers recorded their bond in a Constitution and an Oath that set forth the ideals and principles to all Kappa Sigma today.

Kappa Alpha Order

James Ward Wood was born on December 26, 1845, in rural Hardy County, Virginia (now in West Virginia). He was the fifth generation of Woods to farm the land near Lost River and his grandson Bill Wood (who continues his KA legacy as an Alpha Chapter initiate), occupies the family land and the Woodlawn home today. Wood was apparently studying law when Virginia entered the Civil War. He was blessed with a fantastic home library which was wide and varied. While his education was not as formal as we know today, he had a rich and broad base of learning. This was accomplished by his intense reading and study of all types of literature.

Iota Phi Theta

On September 19, 1963, twelve students from Morgan State College founded what is now the nation's fifth largest, predominately African-American social service fraternity, the Iota Phi Theta Fraternity, Inc. As Iota Phi Theta continues to grow and strengthen, so will its commitment to make meaningful contributions to society in general, with particular emphasis in the African-American community. Throughout America, Iota Phi Theta has come to represent excellence in all areas. The fraternity is, and shall forever remain dedicated to its founders' vision. The founders were Charles Briscoe, Charles Brown, Frank Coakley, Elias Dorsey, Jr.; Charles Gregory, Albert Hicks, Louis Hudnell, Webster Lewis, John Slade, Lonie Spruill, Michael Williams, & Baron Willis.

The Seagull

JSU Drama opens its season with Anton Chekhov's The Seagull, a classic work by Russia's most celebrated playwright.

The Seagull, populated with imperfect, fascinating characters, is a darkly funny play that is poignant and entertains exploration of love and the power of art. The modern translation by Paul Schmidt highlights the comic elements in Chekhov's masterpiece.

The aging theatre star Irina Arkadina and her younger lover Trigorin, a tortured but celebrated writer, arrive at her brother's country estate to watch a play written by Arkadina's idealistic son Konstantin. He has written an avant-garde play in the hopes of creating a new form of drama that will break away from the old conventions that Arkadina has come to symbolize. Starring in the play is Nina, a naïve girl in search of the fame and glamour of the spotlight. Clashing values, romantic attractions, and unrequited love ignite a blaze of passions and rivalries that threaten the idyllic surroundings. As Arkadina faces her disappearing youth, Konstantin and Nina discover that artistic success can be measured in heartbreak.

The Seagull features a cast of JSU students and faculty members under the direction of Michael Boynton. Resident Scenic Designer Jennifer Ivey has devised an abstract setting that mirrors the transparent façade of traditional artistic conventions. Costumes by Freddy Clements evoke the play's early 20th Century Russia setting. New resident Lighting and Sound Designer Robert Graham creates a charged atmosphere that reflects the inner turmoil pulsing underneath the quiet country life.

The Mousetrap

When the longest-running play in history comes to JSU, murder takes center stage. Agatha Christie's masterpiece The Mousetrap first opened in London in 1952 and has been frightening audiences ever since. Newlyweds Mollie and Giles Ralston open an English country guesthouse the same day a grisly murder takes place in nearby London. Travelers arrive as the snow begins to fall, eventually cutting them off from the outside world. Tension turns to suspicion when a police inspector arrives with the news that they may all be in danger. When his prediction comes true, the race is on to find the murderer before they strike again. The Mousetrap will keep you guessing until the very end.

JSU Drama is proud to announce that this production is directed and designed by students under the mentorship of the faculty. Director Tanner Cain, Scenic Director Jessica Reaves, and Costume Designer Jacob Early have collaborated with Lighting Designer Robert Graham and Sound Designer Randal Blades to create just the right mysterious atmosphere. The talented student cast is ready to take their audiences on a thrilling trip back in time to the mid-century English countryside, where no one is who they seem.

To Tread Among Serpents

Loosely based on true events, this year's winner explores the aftermath of a double murder in Rabittown, Alabama and the infamous woman convicted of the crime. Juanita Cohen, a New York reporter seeks to find out why pig farmer Violet Haight murdered her boyfriend and his brother. Not satisfied with the explanation, Juanita begins to publish her own version as she continues to dig for the truth.

Academics

16 Years of Service

Dr. William A. Meehan retired from Jacksonville State University on July 1, 2015 after 16 years in Bibb Graves Hall, going down in university history having held one of its longest presidencies. Only Presidents Clarence W. Doughtie (1899-1942) and Houston Cole (1942-1971) served longer terms. Yet it was a role he never imagined he would play.

"When I went into this business, it was to teach and to be with students," Meehan said. "I think helping students reach their goals, and being able to add value to the experience of all those at the university – to the students, to the faculty and staff – if I can say I've added value to that experience, that's been the most rewarding part."

During his inauguration address in early 2000, Meehan expressed his strong desire to provide a caring academic atmosphere for students, combining "head" and "heart" work. He far exceeded that goal.

Dr. Glen Browder, former U.S. Congressman and Emeritus Professor of American Democracy at JSU, stated, "Dr. Bill Meehan has been a great president and, more than that, he has epitomized JSU's reputation as the Friendliest Campus in the South. Our association goes back many years, and there have been too many memories to pick and describe. I guess my general gratitude is that he has never failed to 'be there' for us in the community – from helping us pursue a dream, to joining us in dealing with our problems, to listening to our complaints with sincere concern, to laughing with us as we exchange pleasantries."

It is rare to find a university president who will go out on a sweltering Saturday morning to help freshmen move into the residence halls on move-in day, or who takes time to know students and faculty by name and greet them with a smile.

"It is an honor to be able to see your university president taking a stroll around campus and calling students by their first names," said Crystal Sharp, a senior majoring in secondary education/English Language Arts. "He has remembered my name every time I have seen him! He is honestly the most personable person I think I have ever met in my lifetime."

Such face-to-face interactions have earned the affections of students, faculty, staff and alumni. While Meehan's warmth and compassion have never changed over the past 16 years, many other transformations have taken place on campus. Here are just a few of the highlights:

1999- 2000 – There was a 45.5 percent increase in the number of distance learning students. Technological advances continued across campus as the Master of Science in Systems and Software Development was introduced and The Chanticleer student newspaper debuted its first online edition. The Montgomery Building Renovation was dedicated on April 17, 2000, and the Baseball Field House was completed in May 2000.

2000- 2001 –For the first time in 25 years, spring commencement was held in Paul Snow Stadium, as graduation outgrew the Pete Mathews Coliseum. To keep up with the growing student population, many improvements were made to the campus' physical and technological infrastructures. The electronic message boards in front of the Theron Montgomery Building and Pete Mathews Coliseum were installed to inform campus of special events and other news. On April 16, 2001, the McGee Science Center, named in honor of past president Dr. Harold McGee, was dedicated. Adjacent Martin Hall also received a remodel. On the other side of campus, the Jack Hopper Dining Hall underwent a facelift and the Academic Center for Excellence (ACE) completed its first year in its new location on the third floor of the Theron Montgomery Building. On August 30, 2001, JSU and Gadsden State Community College signed a new co-admission agreement that would make transferring to JSU a seamless experience for Gadsden students. Blackboard – now a common software program used campus wide – was introduced, with five classes offered fully online. Also that summer, JSU got its own email system called GEM, an acronym for "Gamecock E-Mail."

2001- 2002 – JSU mourned for the victims of the September 11th attacks, including Army Maj. Dwayne Williams, son of former JSU employee Pearl Williams. The entire campus responded by raising money for the American Red Cross and by holding candlelight vigils and a day of prayer and remembrance. JSU and Gadsden State came together through two separate building projects. First, they purchased building 3181 at Fort McClellan, and second, the JSU Gadsden Joe Ford Economic Development Center was completed, allowing JSU and GSCC to house administrative offices and some classrooms. The Alabama Commission on Higher Education unanimously approved JSU's proposal to establish the Institute for Emergency Preparedness.

2002-2003 – JSU experienced an all-time high in enrollment, and also received an "A" rating by Standard & Poor's for the General Tuition and Fee Bond Issue. On October 21, 2002, the Houston Cole Library was rededicated after an extensive remodel that included a new red granite exterior and roof. Also on this date, the campus kiosk at the newly completed Chief Ladiga Rail Trail was dedicated. Work also continued on the McClellan Child Development Center renovations and a new roadway to Chimney Peak, which paved the way for a new mountaintop observatory. The observatory project was funded with part of a $1.8 million NASA grant establishing the Von Braun Scholars program to motivate greater interest in math and science among public school students. In Summer 2003, JSU played host to the Jimmy Carter Work Project for Habitat for Humanity by providing housing, facilities, food, and support for the thousands of volunteers, including President Carter. In one week, the JCWP built 36 new homes in the area. The library began implementing "universal borrowing," which allows JSU students to borrow from other university libraries across Alabama.

2003 – 2004 –The university received its reaffirmation of accreditation by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges. Enrollment was, once again, at an all-time high, and the dietetics program received accreditation for the Didactic Program in Dietetics. JSU invested $376,000 in renovations to the soccer field in time for August 29th season opening.

2004 – 2005 – JSU Athletics officially joined the Ohio Valley Conference (OVC). In the humanities, the English Language Institute was founded in the English department, providing non-credit programs to assist non-native English speakers in achieving English proficiency for academic and professional purposes. JSU's ROTC program was among the top 10 percent in the nation. Dual enrollment and graduate studies were both up in enrollment. The JSU steam plant, Abercrombie and Luttrell Halls, were demolished. Based upon data obtained through an Economic Impact study by the Center of Economic Development, JSU's economic impact was estimated as $325 million and more than 7,952 jobs in Calhoun and Etowah counties. In April 2005, Bob and Lou Kennamer Hall was dedicated. The $2.5 million, 6,000 square foot facility houses the William Taylor Stewart Strength and Conditioning Center and athletic department administrative offices.

2005 – 2006 – Alumni from around the world traveled to Paris to celebrate the International House program's 60-year reunion. In August 2005, move-in commenced in the extensively remodeled Ayers Hall. Artificial turf was laid in Paul Snow Stadium just in time for the 2005 season. In June 2006, some JSU departments participated in the university's first cycle of Program Review, which established a system of continuous improvement among campus departments.

2006 – 2007 – Now a staple on every college campus, Wi-Fi was made available to students, faculty, and staff at JSU. The College of Commerce and Business Administration was included in the 2006 Princeton Review's "The Best 237 Business Schools," placing the business program in the top 10 percent in the nation. New labs were established in Wallace Hall, Brewer Hall, and the Field House. On January 22, 2007, the Board of Trustees approved the university's first Comprehensive Strategic Plan, which focused on quality of education, citizenship and leadership opportunities for students, research and service, technology, increased efficiency and effectiveness of administrative processes and services, and sound financial planning.

2007 – 2008 – JSU's first-ever Freshman Convocation was held at the Pete Mathews Coliseum, starting a new tradition in which new students ring in the beginning of their college careers by striking a bell. Also this year, students were able to register themselves for classes through the Banner system. On October 15, 2007, the Gladys M. Carlisle Fine Arts Facility was dedicated in the presence of the trustee for whom it was named. Sadly, Mrs. Carlisle passed away less than a month later. In February 2008, the university celebrated its 125th anniversary. On April 22, 2008, President Meehan appeared in the Alabama State Legislature to receive a proclamation recognizing this accomplishment.

2008 – 2009 – A new JSU logo and marketing campaign were brought to life. A recruitment trip was made to China to expand opportunities for collaborations with Chinese universities. On February 21, JSU celebrated the end of the university's capital campaign, "The Power of 125... Join the Celebration!" at the new JSU Little River Canyon Center. The campaign exceeded expectations by 42 percent and closed at $31.36 million. The following day, the 23,000 square-foot, LEED-certified Canyon Center officially opened to the public. The Canyon Center houses the university's Little River Canyon Field School and the National Park Service.

2009 – 2010 - The Gamecock Express transportation system was launched. Taizhou University students began to study in the English Language Institute. JSU launched its prestigious new Elite Honors program, which provides academically gifted students with an enriched educational experience.

2010 – 2011 – During this academic year, JSU achieved its highest enrollment ever: 9,504. One of the StormReady universities in Alabama, JSU was awarded a grant from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security through the Alabama Emergency Management Agency to develop a hazard mitigation plan in regards to natural disasters.

An online orientation website was developed, which is especially useful for non-traditional students. The summer reading program was implemented, with Dennis Covington's "Salvation on Sand Mountain" serving as the first selection. JSU became one of the many universities across the country to participate in the Red Balloon Initiative sponsored by the American Association of State Colleges and Universities. Also during this year, a Board of Visitors was established for each academic college. On September 11, 2010, more than 22,000 fans waited out heavy thunderstorms to see the Gamecocks host their first home game in a newly renovated stadium that includes a modern residence hall and luxury suites. As part of the ceremony, the playing surface was christened Burgess-Snow Field.

2011 – 2012 - The JSU Marching Southerners traveled to London, England, to lead the Queen's New Year's Day Parade and kick off the Diamond Jubilee. In fall 2011, JSU welcomed the most academically prepared freshman class in the history of the university, with an average ACT of 22.3. The biggest news of the year was the university's reclassification as a Level V institution by SACSCOC, establishing JSU as a doctoral granting university. The university's first doctoral program, a Doctor of Science in Emergency Management, was launched. A pilot program that provided iPads to 150 students in two classrooms – one in the College of Arts and Sciences and one in the College of Education and Professional Studies – also got underway. The university got its first collaborative classroom, which was in Physical and Earth Sciences. The Collaborative Regional Education program (CORE) was created to establish partnerships between JSU and K-12 school systems, with the mission of equipping schools and teachers with new methods and technologies in the classroom to better prepare students for college and the workforce. JSU's new Institute for Research and Collaboration added six research centers.

2012 – present – There was a record set for first-time freshman, with 1,414 new faces on campus in 2012. Plans were developed and funding was secured to create the Faculty Commons, a center for teaching and learning that provides professional development to faculty related to using new technologies and methodologies in the classroom. In June 2013, JSU held the inaugural CORE Academy, a three-day conference that brought together more than 270 educators to learn how to best incorporate technology into their classroom. In December 2013, the Institute of Research and Collaboration received a $12 million U.S. Department of Education Investing in Innovation (i3) grant, which is being used to fund, measure and expand the CORE program for five years. Planning began for "Deeply Rooted, Future Driven: A Campaign for Jacksonville State University," which has an initial goal of $35.1 million. In fall 2014, the university implemented a Quality Enhancement Program (QEP), "Fast Forward: Using 21st Century Tools to Improve Critical Thinking Skills." Improvements made to the university's infrastructure in 2014 included a $488,000 softball field renovation and a $2.2 million HVAC renovation to the Pete Mathews Coliseum. In December 2014, JSU received re-affirmation of its accreditation through SACSCOC.

There is no doubt that JSU is a better place because of Dr. and Mrs. Meehan and their family. They have left a lasting legacy upon the university and the numerous students who have had the privilege of attending under the Meehan administration. JSU would like to thank Dr. Meehan and his family for their time, effort, and service over past 16 years and wish them the best in the years to come.

The New President

John M. Beehler was named the 12th president of Jacksonville State University today during a special session of the Board of Trustees held on campus at Houston Cole Library. He assumes the helm on July 1. Beehler succeeds William A. Meehan, who retires June 30 having held the third longest presidency in the university's history, 16 years. Beehler was selected following a nationwide search led by the Atlanta-based firm, Diversified Search. Applicants were narrowed to three finalists, who each visited campus in April to meet with faculty, staff, students and the general public. The JSU Board of Trustees made the final selection following in-person interviews and reviewing feedback gathered during campus forums.

For the past 20 years, Beehler has served in a wide range of higher education leadership positions. He was dean of the School of Business at Robert Morris University in Pittsburgh. He previously served as founding provost and vice president for academic excellence and student success at the University of North Texas at Dallas, associate provost for economic initiatives and dean of the College of Business at Northern Kentucky University, dean of the School of Business at Wichita State University, and associate dean at the University of Texas at Arlington.

A certified public accountant, Beehler has significant experience in college and university accounting and auditing. He is a graduate of the Harvard Institutes of Higher Education Management Development Program and the American Academic Leadership Institute's Executive Leadership Academy. He earned a Bachelor of Science in accounting from The Pennsylvania State University and an MBA and Ph.D. in finance and taxation from Indiana University.

Graduating Miss Daisy

Article written by: Heather Greene

A fixture on JSU's campus, Daisy Mae Stanley, age 72, wears many hats: wife, mother, grandmother, great-grandmother, Episcopalian, computer analyst, artist, painter, printmaker and gardener. On Friday evening, she will cross the stage on Burgess-Snow Field and add another hat to her collection – a four-cornered graduation cap to be exact – and a title that's been years in the making: Jacksonville State University alumna. Growing up in the Birmingham area, Daisy attended Shades Valley High School, which produced another familiar face around campus – President William A. Meehan.

Daisy has been a non-traditional student most of her adult life. She took classes at the University of Alabama at Birmingham during the 1970s as a single mother. When she met her husband, Gary Stanley, his work led them to Austin, Texas, where she earned an associate's degree in human services. Together, they have two daughters, several grandchildren and a great-grandchild. So what brought Daisy to the Jacksonville area?

"You might say chemical weapons brought me to JSU," jokes Daisy, as the couple came to the Jacksonville community when Gary, a retired U.S. Air Force officer, took a job at the Anniston chemical weapons incinerator.

For Daisy though, the move meant a chance to earn a degree from a school with a printmaking studio. Ironically, it was a discussion of printmaking that led her to connect with Meehan. Several years ago, she was standing outside on campus chatting with a man about how excited she was to be living near a college that had a printmaking studio. Little did she know she was talking with the president, and the two soon found out that they once went to school together at Shades Valley.

"I always felt like we were friends," Daisy said regarding Meehan or "Bill," as she calls him. Like thousands of other students, she was impressed by his friendly and welcoming demeanor.

Daisy has a true love of learning and enjoys taking courses to continue her education. Having close to 400 credit hours – when a typical bachelor's degree program is only 120 hours – caught the eye of JSU registrar Emily White, who encouraged Daisy to take the remaining courses needed to get a degree in exchange for all that hard work.

"Why not? I'm only 72," thought Daisy, who had been hesitant initially about "wasting" a year of her life taking the science courses necessary to graduate. She now encourages people to take classes they might not normally take to learn something new.

At the time she decided to graduate, Daisy did not know she would be part of the last graduating class under Meehan's administration. "I am so glad he will be signing my degree," she said. "He is someone I really admire."

Daisy insists she will need Meehan to give her a hug when she crosses that stage to receive her degree. While not the oldest degree candidate in JSU's history, she openly acknowledges she is a non-traditional student and would encourage anyone of any age who might be considering returning to school to "do it!"

When asked about her experience at JSU, Daisy glowingly exclaimed, "Oh, I can't say enough!" Being an artist and liberal arts major, of course her favorite classes were her art classes.

"The art department and its faculty and staff are like a family to me," Daisy lovingly explains. "I have found a new respect for the 'required' or core courses also.

I truly enjoy learning outside my field. I encourage every student to get everything they can out of even those things they are not interested in. They might find they love it." Daisy also enjoys encouraging and interacting with JSU's younger art students, who affectionately refer to her as "Miss Daisy."

"So many people have a negative attitude about young people, but these kids are wonderful," said Daisy regarding the many students she has had the opportunity to interact with.

In addition to her studies at JSU, Daisy belongs to the writing group at the Jacksonville Public Library. She also enjoys gardening and proudly has more than 100 flowers growing in her yard. "I like to have a yard that sings 'alleluia' with the beauty of nature," she said.

What are Daisy's plans following graduation? She plans to return to school in the fall to pursue another degree. She would also like to write a memoir of her life, write a children's book, garden, make art just for fun, and continue working with and encouraging the art students at JSU. She also has a dream of somehow bringing the young and artsy together with the elderly in the community to create therapeutic art classes. No matter where she goes next, Daisy is certain to continue being a lifelong learner.

Ayers Lecture

NPR Media Correspondent Dr. David Folkenflik visited Jacksonville State University on March 13, 2014 to deliver the annual Ayers Lecture hosted by the JSU Department of Communications.

David Folkenflik is well known for his coverage of a broad array of issues—from the war in Afghanistan, to the financial crisis, to the spellbinding saga of the “Balloon Boy.” He also provides media criticism on the air and at NPR.org. Reports by Folkenflik, heard on NPR news magazine shows that include, All Things Considered the Morning Edition and Talk of the Nation, provide great insight into the operation of the media during a time of momentous shifts in the industry and shed light on people who help change the way the news business operates.

The Ayers Lecture series dates back to 1988. Jacksonville State University and its Communication Department have continued the tradition. The event honors Harry M. and Edel Y. Ayers, consecutive publishers of The Anniston Star. The couple felt a strong kinship with Jacksonville State University. The Ayers Lecture serves as a tribute to their living story of communication in Northeast Alabama.

Lilly Ledbetter

Lilly Ledbetter, whose fight for equal pay and women's rights went all the way to the Supreme Court and resulted in the Ledbetter Fair Pay Restoration Act, spoke and signed her book "Grace and Grit: My Fight for Equal Pay and Fairness at Goodyear and Beyond," at Jacksonville State University's Houston Cole Library on March 16th.

Ms. Ledbetter, a Calhoun County native, filed a sex discrimination suit against her employer, Goodyear, when an anonymous note revealed that she was making thousands less per year than men in her position. She won her case, but lost on appeal. Over the next eight years, the case made its way to the Supreme Court, where the court ruled that she should have filed suit within 180 days of her first unequal paycheck, even though Ledbetter contested she had no way of knowing that she was being paid unfairly at the time. Undaunted by her loss, Ledbetter continued to champion equality and advocate for change. The piece of legislation bearing her name was the first signed by President Barack Obama after he took office.

CORE

A lecture and workshop sponsored by CORE features guest speakers on the topic of Technology in Rural Classrooms.

Founder's Day

Jacksonville State University faculty, staff, sponsors, and scholarship recipients attend the annual Founder's Day Luncheon.

Holocaust Remembrance

Robert May was born in Germany in 1926. The May family had owned a dry goods store for several generations and May's father was cantor at the local synagogue. When Hitler came to power in 1933, anti-semitism threatened the family business and forced Robert to leave school and stay with his aunt in Frankfurt. During Kristallnacht in 1938, Robert's school and synagogue were burned, and his aunt's apartment ransacked. A month later, Robert escaped Germany through the Kindertransport, a British program that allowed Jewish children under 17 to enter England, as long as they could support themselves. Robert's father and mother managed to join him in London two days before the war began, and the family emigrated to the U.S. in 1940.

Robert's aunt, with whom he stayed in Frankfurt, and the uncle who sponsored his Kindertransport both perished in Auschwitz.

Robotics

More than 50 state teachers gathered at the Jacksonville State University campus to take part in JSU's Vex robotics training course and competition. The event was an initiative of the Alabama Math, Science, and Technology Initiative at JSU.

Career Fair

The JSU office of Career Services sponsored the annual Fall Career Fair held in Merrill Hall. The Fair offers students an opportunity to meet with various corporate representatives from local and international companies.
