New JSU Student Chapter of the American Choral Directors Association

Today's food drive to benefit the Food Ministry of the Church of St. Michael and All Angels is sponsored by the newly formed JSU chapter of the American Choral Directors Association. This is one of three food drives that the chapter will sponsor at choral concerts this fall.

ACDA is a national organization whose mission is to inspire excellence in choral music through education, performance, composition, and advocacy. There are student ACDA chapters at colleges and universities all over the United States. The JSU chapter will join other Alabama chapters at Huntingdon College, Samford University, The University of Alabama, Troy University, The University of Alabama in Huntsville, the University of Alabama-Birmingham and the University of North Alabama.

JSU Director of Choral Activities, Dr. Patricia Corbin, who also serves on the Alabama ACDA board as College & University Repertoire and Standards Chair, is responsible for starting this chapter and is its adviser. "ACDA has fabulous conventions every year and I haven't missed one since 1995," says Dr. Corbin. "They are life changing events for those of us who are passionate about choral music," she continues, "I wanted to have some of my JSU students share in this experience."

In addition to sponsoring the fall food drives, the chapter is raising money to attend the ACDA National Convention that will be held in Dallas, Texas, March 13-17, 2013.

If you are interested in donating money to help the chapter attend the Dallas convention, a donation box will be available in the lobby after the concert. Please make checks payable to "JSU Foundation/Choirs."

For further information about the new ACDA student chapter or upcoming choral concerts, please contact the JSU Choral Activities Office, (256) 782-5544.
