The Roadside Interview section is specifically geared for the uniformed law enforcement officials who conduct traffic stops as part of their daily functions. Of the many police activities that must be performed, the roadside interview truly approaches the category of an art. It takes talent, a natural inclination to perform the task well, study, and practice to develop the basic skills, as well as continual self-analysis and cultivation of talents and skills in the questioning process. The student will be shown how to adapt their own personality to the various situations and the personalities of the people whom they will encounter during the roadside interview process. Students will be taught how to develop a style that is distinctive and then how to improve it through studied experience. The course will show the student the importance of establishing rapport, as well as becoming a better listener. Students will be taught specific techniques that detect criminal activity and how to view every roadside interview in totality. Through the analyzing of actual traffic stop videos the students will be shown that no single behavior standing alone proves anything during the traffic stop encounter.

The method of instruction for the course will involve the implementation of various video clips from traffic stops that are designed to show the teaching points and encourage class discussion.

The lead instructor for the course will be Alex Gonzalez.
