Research in Progress

"Dancing With Power" (Writing Results)

This project uses the framework established in my last publication "McSexy: Exotic Dancing and Institutional Power" to critically review the literature on the topic of exotic dance. The review will examine findings from published articles on power and exotic dancing at the individual level, interactional level and institutional level.

"Where's Your Evidence: Critical Thinking through Writing and Discussion" (On-Going)

This project describes and assesses an activity designed to promote critical thinking, writing and discussion skills. Students are required to write an analytic paper on an assigned reading and work collaboratively to lead a discussion on the topic. A rubric is used to measure student learning outcomes of critical thinking as well as writing and communication skills.
